FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

The stock market opened with more firmness than the bears, who recommenced their operations last even-ing, anticipated, and although they continued to hammer it vigorously it gradually rose against them. At the irst regular board Reading closed % higher than at the first regular board Resoung closed 3, higher than at the second board yesterday, Michigan Southern 1½. New York Central was ½ lower, Erie ¾, Cleveland and Pittsburg ½, Northwestern ½, preferred ½, Rock Island ¼, Fort Wayne ¼, Prairie du Chien 1½, Ohio and Mississippi certificates 1/4. The demand for money has been moderately active at even per cent on call, and, although one or two banks in some of their loans, there were very few complaints of a difficulty in borrowing on good collatera's at the legal rate. Some of the most prominent lenders de-clined lending to parties on the Stock Exchange susceted of being in the "bear" conspiracy to create arti-cial stringency. The efforts of these persons to lock toney out of the market for the sake of subservtheir own speculative ends will prove futile, in effect they may be likened to drawing acuum, either in the lake or in the money market, it is con filled, and the attempts of a band of desperate, nscrupulous, and, to some extent, irresponsible speclators, to control monetary affairs at this, the financial centre of the country, instead of being seconded as they have been in more than one instance by the banks, ought to be severely discouraged. Jacob Little, as Ursa Major, used long ago to play the trick of borrowing when he had no need of money, and he was shrewd enough to borrow from those he knew the "bull" louses were in the habit of relying upon, so that the shoe might be made to pinch just where he wanted it to pinch. But the contracted order of things under which he worked in those days has given place to a nancial expansion which at the present time embraces nearly a thousand millions of currency, and the one nan power has passed into local history, and even the eputed wealthiest men in Wall street would be as chaff efore the wind should they venture upon the per lous exploit of opposing the popular current. Already it is believed that some of the latter, who coast of a controlling influence over the market, and who regard the Stock Exchange in the same spirit as wolves look upon a sheepfold, have, in street parlance, been badly hurt, and that if they had to settle their outstanding contracts to-morrow they would be found wanting and henceforward be numbered in the long procesthis effect as they witnessed certain operations to-day.

The demand for discounts is not pressing; but very few names are taken at seven per cent unless from regular customers. The general rate varies from 8 to 10 for the best grade of commercial 145% a % at the close. The supply is very abundant, and it can only be lent by the payment of 5 a 7 per cent interest on the currency received. The heaviness of foreign exchange tends to its depression. Large amounts of Southern bankers' bills, drawn gainst cotton, are offering, and these have been sold at 18% to-day, while the best bankers' bills have only ommanded 108% a 109 second hand. The asking rate, er, at sixty days, is 109%, and 110% at short sight.

oleum stocks were moderately active at the first Montana declined 60c., closing at $7 90. Pithole Creek advanced 42c., closing at $6 77.
